

Legislative File

Essential Features of S. Res. 400

I. Membership

- A. 15 members (plus the Senate majority and minority leaders who are ex-officio members)
- B. 8 designated seats from the following committees: Appropriations, Armed Services, Foreign Relations, and Judiciary
- C. 7 members appointed at-large, none of whom can be members of the four committees listed above (there are 39 Senators in this category)
- D. 8 years maximum continuous term

II. Jurisdiction

- A. "All proposed legislation, messages, petitions, memorials, and other matters" relating to CIA, DCI, intelligence activities of all other departments and agencies of the Government, including but not limited to DOD, State Department, Department of Justice, and Department of the Treasury. "Legislation" includes authorization legislation.
- B. With the exception of legislation concerning CIA and the DCI, any legislation reported by the Select Committee shall be referred for 30 days to a standing committee if the matter relates to the jurisdiction of the standing committee and the Chairman of the standing committee so requests. The Select Committee can get a 30-day referral of legislation reported by standing committees under the same procedures.
- C. Section 3(c) provides "nothing in this resolution shall be construed as ... restricting the authority of any other committee to study and review any intelligence activity to the extent that such activity directly affects a matter otherwise within the jurisdiction of such committee."

III. Reports

- A. The Select Committee shall make periodic reports to the Senate.
- B. Directors of agencies with intelligence activities shall file annual unclassified reports with the Select Committee on their intelligence activities and the intelligence activities of hostile countries. The unclassified reports may be made publicly available.

IV. Staff

- A. Staff employees must agree in writing and under oath not to disclose Committee information during or after employment with the Committee.
- B. All staff members must have a security clearance.

V. Disclosure

- A. Select Committee may disclose publicly any information in its possession under specified procedures requiring notification of the President and a full Senate vote if the President objects.
- B. No classified information relating to lawful intelligence activities which the Select Committee has determined shall not be disclosed shall be made available to any person by a Member, officer, or employee of the Senate, except in closed session.
- C. The Select Committee may under its established regulations make information available to other committees or the members (individual members of the Committee do not have this authority as they did in the Government Operations Committee version).

VI. Reporting Responsibility

It is the sense of the Senate that the head of each agency should:

- a. keep the Committee fully and currently informed on intelligence activities;
- b. furnish the Committee any information or document in its possession upon request;
- c. report immediately violations of Constitutional rights, law, Executive orders, Presidential directives, or departmental or agency rules.

VII. Authorization

The Senate cannot consider appropriations bills including funds for intelligence activities, unless such funds "have been previously authorized by a bill or joint resolution passed by the Senate." All intelligence activities are included in this authorization requirement. Under section 3 of the resolution such bills are the jurisdiction of the Select Committee on Intelligence Activities. A floor colloquy firmly established that this requirement was not to result in budget disclosure, if the Senate continues to believe budget secrecy is required.
